How do I pronounce MCtime?

Em-Cee-time

Written: capital M, capital C, lowercase time

What is the link for the MCtime Informational Website?

This is the link where you can readily locate timekeeping information and the link to the MCtime portal. www.montgomerycountymd.gov/mctime

When can I first access MCtime?

MCtime will not be available before the Thursday following your Orientation. It is best practice to attempt your initial access MCtime on that day. If you experience any problems, notify your supervisor. Until MCtime is available, employees may record time on the Manual Time Tracking Form, available on the MCtime Informational Website.

When should I record my hours worked in MCtime?

Once you have access to MCtime, best practice is to record your hours worked daily, but no later than the last day of the bi-weekly pay period.

When should I approve my hours in MCtime?

Most employees are required to approve timecards on the Monday after the pay period closes by 10 am. Most managers are required to approve employee timecards on the Tuesday after the pay period closes by 10 am.

Please review with your supervisor, if your department has a different deadline.

Frequently Asked Questions by New Employees

What happens if my timecard is not approved?

Employees that have not approved their timecard by the deadline will receive a warning that their timecard is not approved. Employees, with Outlook Calendars, should set a biweekly reminder, so that they complete this task timely.

NOTE: For an employee's first pay period, because the employee has not been employed the full pay period (Sunday – Saturday), the timecard will indicate “partial approval” and both employee and manager receive the approve timecard warning. For the employees first pay period ONLY, this notice may be ignored.

When will I get paid?

The County's Payday/Holiday Calendar can be found on the MCtime Informational Website or within the MCtime application under “My Links.” Biweekly pay dates are indicated with a circle.

How do I access my pay slip?

Pay slips may be accessed through Oracle Employee Self Service (ESS) on the County's ePortal.

Do I have to work on Holidays?

In order to maintain business operations, employees in some departments are required to work on holidays. Please review your schedule with your supervisor to determine if you are required to report to work on Official County Holidays.

How do I access my leave balance in MCtime?

Instructions for accessing the MCtime Leave Balance can be found on the Employee Tasks Job Aid. Always use the date “TODAY.” Leave Balances are not projected in MCtime.

Frequently Asked Questions by New Employees

Why doesn't my MCtime Leave match my pay slip balance?

MCtime Leave does match your pay slip balance, however, the timing of the two displays may cause some confusion.

Your pay slip reflects your leave balance as of the last day of the pay period, (two weeks ago) plus any leave accrued from the pay period before that.

Your MCtime leave balance is updated from Oracle biweekly to reflect your accrued leave. On the Monday of pay week, you will see leave accrued on paid hours from the previous pay period, retroactively to the first Sunday of the period.

Your MCtime balance reflects any leave applied to your timecard in your current pay period. In the Manager (JAVA) view, leave balances are dynamic, based on the placement of your cursor. Leave Balances are not projected in MCtime.

Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), Parental Leave and MCGEO SLB balances are updated nightly. FMLA and Parental Leave are for tracking. FMLA and Parental Leave tracking codes must be used with a leave pay code for pay or Leave Without Pay (LWOP) pay code.

Sick Leave, taken as Family Sick Leave, is accumulated on the pay slip, for tracking purposes in the Leave Year. Family Sick Leave usage may be limited to the amount of leave accrued in a Leave Year. Family Sick Leave is not an "accrual balance," but displayed for tracking purposes.
